Mason Comes Out For Lindbergh as Nazi Spy Expert

Demands Restoration of Flier's Commission, Says He Earned Distinguished Service Medal

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Rep. Mason (R-Ill.) declared today that Charles A. Lindbergh "is the Billy Mitchell of this war" and demanded restoration of the Army Air Force Reserve commission Lindbergh resigned after a dispute with President Roosevelt in 1941.

Mason asserted that Lindbergh "shot down several enemy planes" while making test flights as a civilian expert in the Southwest Pacific and should be awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for his work in that theatre.

"Lindbergh is exactly in the same status as the late General Billy Mitchell, who was dead 20 years before the wrong that was done to him was corrected," Mason told a reporter.

"I am hopeful that this will be rectified without legislation, and that is why I am calling it to the attention of the public and Congress at this time."

However, if something isn't done voluntarily I propose to introduce legislation to clear Colonel Lindbergh and restore his commission."

Mason added he would wait "probably until January" before taking any action.

The Army Air Forces had no comment.

Lindbergh, a Colonel, gave up his commission in April, 1941, during a clash with the administration over foreign policy.

At a White House news conference Mr. Roosevelt rebuked the flier for a series of speeches he made and the resignation followed.

Mason earlier this week said in Congressional record statement: "I took Lindbergh on in spite of White House opposition and Lindbergh went to the Southwest Pacific to test war planes under actual combat conditions."

"In demonstration test flights—on a technical civilian advisor to the fighting forces—he actually shot down several enemy planes, and of course of the record because he was a civilian and noncombatant."

In comparing Lindbergh with Mitchell, Mason noted that Mitchell was court-martialed and found guilty of insubordination for seeing the administration of military aviation was incompetent. Mitchell resigned from the service. Nearly two decades later Congress formally cleared him and bestowed a posthumous promotion from Colonel to Brigadier General.

Fighting Breaks Out in Bandoeng, British Say

Batavia, Java, Nov. 30 (AP)—The British announced today that fighting broke out again in Bandoeng yesterday between the British and Indonesian Nationalists.

A press statement said six Indonesian soldiers were reported in the management of a building on a main highway.

The ultimatum has ordered all Indonesian out of the north-central part of Bandoeng, the summer capital of Java, southeast of Batavia, by noon yesterday.

To the east in Ambarrua Indonesian soldiers shelled a British military camp killing eight and wounding 15.

The British were declared to be land-locked reinforcements on the south coast of Java.

Banks Would Be Put Under Nationalization

Paris, Nov. 30 (AP)—The de Gaulle government proposed to the constituent assembly today the nationalization of the Bank of France and four other major banks.

The institutions have a total capitalization of 2,875,000,000 francs ($53,500,000).

The assembly decided to start debate on the proposal Sunday morning.

School Plans Are Approved for Unit For 930 Students

Former Sahler Property Would Be Location of New Building; Features Cited

At its regular meeting Thursday evening the Board of Education approved the preliminary plans for an elementary school on the former Sahler property on Wall street and authorized the president and superintendent of school to execute the application for examination and approval of preliminary plans and forward same to the University of the State of New York State Education Department, Division of School Buildings and Grounds.

Approval of the plans by the Education Department and the Post War Planning Commission will put the city in a position to receive state aid to the extent of 2 per cent of the preliminary costs.

It was stated the action taken does not bind the city to any contract to build the school, but places it in a position to participate immediately in any public grant which may be voted.

A brief description of the proposed school building as outlined by Architect Henry Halverson was given to the Board members and floor plans were presented as well as an architect's drawing of the building as proposed.

Plans call for erection of a two-story brick Class A, or fireproof building, facing Wall street. The school is designed that additions may be added. Present walls will be strong enough for future expansion and the floor plan is so laid out that the building may be used for community purposes as well as school purposes. That is, there will be room for P.T.A. meetings, the auditorium will be so arranged that it will not be necessary to heat the entire building when the auditorium is in use. There will be provision for physical education.

Duck Will Visit City Sunday in Bond Drive

An amphibious duck, one of the landing barges that made history on the Normandy beachhead and on the beaches of the Pacific, is to visit Kingston on Saturday, Francis J. McPartlin, Kingston city chairman for the Victory Loan drive, announced this morning.

The "duck," in charge of a detail of service men, is due to arrive in Kingston from West Point at 11 a. m. Saturday. The understanding is that it will traverse a number of the city streets and after one o'clock, will be stationed at Rhymer's Dock, on Abel street.

Mr. McPartlin said that it was planned to give the school children an opportunity to take a ride in the "duck" and also extend that privilege to all persons purchasing an "E" Bond, or who could show a receipt indicating that they had purchased such a bond.

The amphibious duck has been in Poughkeepsie on several Saturdays recently and reports are that as a result interest in the sale of bonds had been greatly stimulated.

Congress Asks Action to End Sugar Shortages in Nation

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Cries for action to end sugar shortages in Congress today for government action to ease sugar shortages.

Both Republicans and Democrats joined in the clamor. Meanwhile, a two-way congressional investigation of the situation gathered steam.

The chief demand for federal action came from an unofficial Republican Food Study Committee. Acting as its spokesman, Rep. Jonkman (R-Mich.) said in a speech prepared for House delivery:

"A survey by the G.O.P. group showed 'there will be 1,500,000 more tons of sugar for United States civilians in 1946 than in 1945.'"

Accordingly, the government should announce immediately revised and increased sugar quotas, particularly for the food industry.

Chairman Pace (D-Ga.) of the House Food Investigating Committee promptly questioned the Republican figures.

Pace told a reporter "it is impossible now to estimate what supplies will be available next year."

Likewise, an Agriculture Department spokesman said "figures are not available now to support any predictions." Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said recently sugar supplies would remain tight in 1946, with rationing likely throughout the year.

Pace added that his committee will call on Agriculture Department officials to testify, probably next week, in an effort to "get the facts" regarding the sugar situation.

Chairman Granger (D-Utah), of an agriculture subcommittee said his group would offer recommendations soon regarding beet sugar production.

The Democratic demands for federal action came from Louisiana congressmen. Several told a reporter that producers in their state must be given a government sugar subsidy of 25 cents a hundred pounds or they will "go broke."

Rep. Domingue (D-La.) said in a House speech yesterday that present ceiling prices, if continued, would force the Louisiana industry into "liquidation."

Langmuir Says Russia Could Win in Atomic Race

Scientist Gives His Reasons, Cites Their Big Program in Science

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Dr. Irving Langmuir predicted today that if an Atomic armament race develops Russia will produce its first atomic bomb in about three years and possibly accumulate them "far faster" than the United States.

The associate research director of General Electric gave the Senate Atomic energy committee half a dozen reasons why he said the Russians would have an advantage:

"A larger population and it can be regimented."

"They have a remarkable system of incentives which is rapidly increasing the efficiency of their industrial production."

"No unemployment."

"No strikes."

"They have a deep appreciation of pure and applied science."

"They have already planned a more extensive program in science than any contemplated by us."

"We must consider also that the Russians have continued the training of scientists during the war to a far greater extent than we have," the chemist said. "Furthermore, they have available in any Atomic energy program the knowledge and technical skill of German scientists and technicians."

"Russia certainly has ample resources in uranium."

Langmuir testified that if Russia considered the incentives great enough, she could mobilize her resources for an Atomic energy program, get her people to devote a higher standard of living and devote 10 per cent of her production capacity to a five year Atomic energy plan.

In contrast, he said, before the war the United States devoted only 0.01 per cent of its national income to research. This rose to about 0.5 per cent during war time.

Far from advocating that the United States and Russia indulge in an Atomic armament race, Langmuir proposed that the governments of Great Britain, Canada and this nation seek immediate contact with the Soviet Government to secure a tentative agreement based on the Truman-Attlee-Mackenzie King formula of November 23.

This called for an immediate start toward outlawing the Atomic bomb as a war weapon. Detailed industrial application of Atomic energy would be withheld from other countries until effective safeguards are devised.

Fourteen-Inch Snow Disrupts Travel; All Equipment Is Used on Roads

The storm which continued all day Thursday and through last night left Ulster county with roads covered with a snowfall which ranged from six or seven inches up to as much as 14 inches and has kept snow removal equipment in the city and county busy.

Yesterday morning reports to the County Highway Department showed that at that time the weight of the storm was confined largely to the western side of the Shawangunk Mountains and to the high country west of the Rondout valley. The comparatively heavy fall last night, however, was felt in all sections.

Along the Minerva Trail as much as 14 inches of snow was reported, and like conditions were reported from Crampton, and the Ulster Heights, Samsonville, Oliveira and Pine Hill areas.

Along Route 209 there was a fall of six or seven inches according to the report. Southern Ulster and the Saugerties area complained of little trouble until the snow began to pile up last night.

All county equipment was started out Thursday morning as reports began to come in from some of the areas where the storm had been the worst—in the Pine Hill section and on the upper part of Route 28.

Roads were reported open this morning, but with considerable work to be done yet before driving conditions will be good.

City Equipment Is Used

In the city, where estimates place the snowfall as 10 or 12 inches in places, the entire city equipment was started out at 11.

Young Republicans Will Not Let Leaders Speak for Them

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—A House Republicans whose views frequently receive attention in Congress served notice today they intend to express their own views on major matters and not let party leaders speak for them.

A carefully worded statement signed by 39 members whose service started with the last Congress made no reference to any rift. But several members of the group told a reporter privately that one has developed between the younger and older Republicans.

Made public by Rep. Augustus W. Bennett of New York, the statement called for non-partisanship in the current Pearl Harbor investigation and in consideration of universal training proposals under study. It said the group believed an expression on those two subjects "is appropriate at this time."

The purpose of the statement, several signers said privately, is to dispel any idea that veterans

Army Intelligence Boss Says Branch Always Considered Eventual War With Japan

Drum Had Hunch General Drum Dwelt of Carrier Attack in 1936 Correspondence

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles said today that Army war plans always had taken in to account a surprise enemy attack on Hawaii and that intelligence officers "very much feared" the Japanese might strike somewhere on December 7, 1941.

Miles, chief of Army Intelligence at the time of the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor, told a Senate-House Committee investigating the disaster the fears of an attack were linked to the delivery of a Japanese diplomatic note at 1 p. m. that day. However, he said, intelligence officers did not know where the Japanese might strike.

The Army consistently thought in terms of an eventual war with Japan, Miles told the committee.

"A surprise attack on Hawaii was always part of our war plans. We also assumed that we would not have the assistance of the United States Fleet which might well be blocked in the Atlantic," Miles added.

He said the Army conducted one war game years ago in which troops, simulating an enemy, landed on a Sunday morning in Honolulu harbor. Besides that, Miles declared, "an air attack at dawn was a factor always considered."

In 1932, he said, "there was a great deal of discussion of an attack by air" and in 1935 or 1936 Lieut. Gen. Hugh Drum dwelt on a carrier attack on Pearl Harbor in some Army correspondence. The committee immediately acted to get that correspondence from Army files.

Miles said however that the Army felt "there was no possible way of catching a surprise attack before it fell except by reconnaissance from Hawaii."

Query Is Made

"In view of that and all these other factors," Gerhard Gessell, committee counsel, asked, "did you inquire whether reconnaissance was being conducted properly?"

"I did not not," Miles replied, "it was not a responsibility of military intelligence."

In describing Army concern over the possibility of a Japanese attack on December 7, 1941, Miles told the committee that a war with Japan had become a strong probability in the minds of Army leaders early in that month.

He said that interception of Tokyo's direction to its "peace" envoys to deliver their note on the fateful Sunday caused him to call the attention of Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, to the critical situation.

"We didn't know where it was coming," the general testified, "but we very much feared that the attack was coming coincident with the 1 p. m. delivery of the Japanese reply."

Gerhard Gessell, committee counsel, asked Miles what the Intelligence Division had thought about the possibility of war with Japan in mid-November of 1941.

"One thing I felt sure was that Japan faced a crisis that would almost certainly result in radical action on her part," Miles replied.

He added that this action could have taken one or more of several forms such as an attack on Russia, expansion to the south, an assault on Hong Kong, increased efforts to crush China and "lastly, Japan might add to her enormous burdens and the strain on her military establishment by attacking the two great naval powers, the United States and Great Britain."

Two Snow Removal Bills Are Unpaid

Matter to Be Decided at Next Meeting of Common Council

The Common Council met last night in special session to consider the request of the Board of Public Works to include in the next ensuing tax roll for collection with the general city taxes the amounts of two unpaid snow removal bills.

The meeting was also called to give property owners an opportunity to be heard in the matter, but none availed himself of the opportunity.

When the council convened it found two bills for snow removal from the sidewalks were reported unpaid. They were the 56th West 9th Street Corporation for property at Hasbrouck avenue and East Strand, amounting to $3; and the property of Claude Follette at 19-31 Greenkill avenue, amounting to $11.75.

A letter from Mr. Follette was read in which it was stated that Emmett Perry, who rented the property, had reported to him that he had kept the sidewalks clear of snow, or cleaner than the majority of sidewalks in the city last winter.

The council will take up the question of including the two bills in the next tax roll at the regular December meeting.

One other bill was also read of $8.73 for clearing broken cement walk from the sidewalk area at 281 Main street. The bill was given to George Darling, and similar action as on the snow bills will be taken at the regular council meeting.

Elliott's Mastiff Is Destroyed; Mrs. F.D.R. Gets Huffed

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP) — Blaise, Elliott Roosevelt's bull mastiff of transcontinental plane ride fame, licked the late President's Scottie, Fala, but paid for the victory with his life.

The State Health Department said today Blaise was destroyed, as a precaution, by Dr. Thomas Sheldon, Rhinebeck veterinarian, but that examination of Blaise's head showed the dog did not have rabies.

The department received Blaise's head Tuesday from Dr. Sheldon. Fala was admitted to Dr. Sheldon's hospital Saturday. Several stitches were needed to close Fala's wounds and he was weak from loss of blood, Dr. Sheldon said.

Fala, a visitor Saturday at the Roosevelt Hyde Park estate, while ambling across a lawn met the 135-pound Blaise. Fala began to fly from the Scottie—but the mastiff was unhurt.

Blaise broke into the hews last January when three service men were "bumped off" a transport plane because the mastiff had a higher priority. The dog was en route to Elliott Roosevelt's wife, actress Faye Emerson in California. Roosevelt, then an officer in the Army air forces, sent Blaise from England.

Short Answers Are Given

In New York, the Herald Tribune said Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt gave short answers when asked about the fight between the dogs.

"I don't see that it is anyone's business except the family's," she said. "Furthermore, I don't know what you're talking about."

Then she asked the reporter: "I don't see how you even heard about it, who told you?"

Told the Associated Press had revealed the facts, Mrs. Roosevelt said.

"Go back to your office and telephone the Associated Press and tell them to mind their own business."

The play and the program has been prepared by Rabbi Harold Schechter with the able assistance of the Misses Sadie Lutzin, Anne Weisman and Mildred Dean. Trooper Divine of the Highland station said that the accident occurred at the height of the snowstorm and both drivers were confused and did not see the other car until too late.

Lapine received a severe laceration of the nose and a chest injury. Miss Baum suffered from multiple lacerations about the face and back of the head. She was taken to her home after treatment by Dr. Meekins of Highland. Both cars, badly damaged, were towed away.

several education activities, a corrective gym and the usual service rooms.

Apartment for the janitor will be in school so that the building will be constantly under supervision. The plan calls for 21 full sized class rooms, each 20 by 30 feet in size, and also three kindergarten rooms which will be separate from the other school facilities. Kindergarten pupils will have their own play space. Capacity of the building will be 930 pupils and when completed the school will replace both No. 7 and No. 8.

Apartment for Janitor

A cafeteria with a 260 student capacity will be provided. The Auditorium will seat 650 and the gym will be so arranged that it may be divided into two rooms by a sliding partition and both boys and girls may do gym work at the same time, thus giving 100 per cent use of the gym facilities. The gym when opened will provide a full size basketball court, 72 feet long with space for bleachers. Principal's rooms, medical rooms and two individual music rooms are provided. The boiler room is located in the center of the building for economy.

After discussing the building to be located on the Sahler property the Board also took up the matter of a similar building in the lower section of the city and a committee on sites was requested to contact the State Department and ascertain how much space would be required and what location would be desired if the school is to be located in Hasbrouck Park. It was stated that this building downtown would be the second step in the school improvement plan and it was advisable to have plans ready so that in the event Federal funds were made available the city would be ready to take advantage of the grant toward erection of the downtown school.

It was stated that the mayor has expressed approval of Hasbrouck Park as a site and the State Department would be asked to send a representative to Kingston as soon as possible to look over that site and decide how much land would be taken and just what location would be best. The common council will have to approve the use of the land by the school authorities.

Nazi Spy Expert Plotted for Years Against Fuehrer

Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, one of the defendants, wanted German secret agents to murder the two French military leaders after the fall of France to remove them as possible centers of French resistance.

Veyrand was Allied generalissimo at the time of the fall of France and later was Marshal Petain's administrator in North Africa. Giraud for a time was the Allied-recognized French leader in North Africa.

The prosecution's surprise witness declared former Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop once asserted that "all farms of Poles must be burned to the ground and all Jews killed" in the invasion of Poland.

Hitler was responsible for the policy of starvation that led to cannibalism among Russian prisoners. Lahousen declared. He said preparations were made to take Russian prisoners to Germany "but this was countermanded, we heard, on Hitler's personal orders."

"This meant there was vast congestion at the front," he commented. "People could not be fed nor clothed and cannibalism ensued." . . . During repeated trips I undertook with Canaris I saw some of this with my own eyes."

Orders also were issued to brand some Soviet prisoners, he testified.

The tall, bald general said Von Ribbentrop's statement was made September 12, 1939, at a meeting on Hitler's train attended by the Fuehrer, Canaris, Ribbentrop, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl.

A tentative plan to assassinate French Marshal Maxime Weyrand after the fall of France was discussed by German military leaders but was not carried out, General Lahousen said.

He suggested by Field Marshal Keitel, one of the defendants, to prevent the possibility of formation of a resistance movement around the French military leader, he said.

Polish uniforms were provided by the counter-intelligence section to outfit Germans for a fake attack on a German radio station at Gleiwitz, thus providing a "incident" which Hitler used as one of the excuses for invading Poland, Lahousen testified.

The German general said that he provided anti-Nazi material for the dairy of Canaris who kept the record of Germany and the world once and for all, how those people were guilty who were guiding the nation at the time."

Field Marshal Keitel was quoted by Lahousen as saying that SS agents would carry out "political cleansing" of occupied territory.

The "political cleansing," the German general said, included orders for mass execution of Russian prisoners "regarded as active carriers of Bolshevism." Admiral Canaris protested against the mass executions to Keitel but was overruled, he said.

"The killing was deemed necessary because the war was considered by Hitler as an ideological one," Lahousen added. "Communism was considered the mortal enemy of Nazism."

Small Business Assistance Is Discussed Here

George H. Liddle, State Department of Commerce, outlined Governor Dewey's plan to aid small business at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

Representatives of the Chamber's Veterans Affairs, Wholesale, Industrial Procurement and Retail Committees were present. Mr. Liddle stated that the state plan was for a well-publicized group of Chamber members to volunteer to advise returning servicemen and war workers who desired to start a business of their own. Representative professional businessmen in each line of endeavor will encourage advisable undertakings and discourage those that might end in disaster.

W. C. Kingman, Lloyd LeFever, Stanley Matthews and Thomas Bohan volunteered for service. Others will be added. Any discharged serviceman is urged to consult the Chamber of Commerce in the Governor Clinton Hotel, if he is considering embarking on a business career.

Plans were also announced for an attempt to establish a cooperative apprenticeship training program. Through this servicemen would work part-time. They would be paid one-half journeyman's rates by local businessmen and manufacturers while the G. I. Bill of Rights would pay $50 a month to single men and $75 to married veterans. Cooperation with the vocational education director of the city school system will be sought, so that formal training will also be provided.

First Baptist Men Plan to Rebuild the Church Organ

At the regular monthly meeting of the First Baptist Men's Club Wednesday evening in the church parlors, the club decided to undertake a project to rebuild the church organ.

The meeting began at 6:30 with a supper served by the refreshment committee, Sherwood Lasher, George B. Matthews and Chester Greene.

Following the supper the club held its business session at which time the new project was discussed. The object of the undertaking is to have the present organ rebuilt. The club in the past few years has undertaken similar projects on behalf of the church. The men's club was successful in carrying to completion a lighting and re-painting project a few years ago in which new lights were installed in the sanctuary and the whole church re-decorated. The club also used the coin bank system and was successful in raising funds for the fuel bills of the church during the difficult days of the war.

The members of the club have every confidence that they will also be successful in this new project. President Arthur S. Brown appointed a committee consisting of William S. Jackson, William W. Brady and Paul Jones for the promotion of this project.

The following committees were appointed for the 1945-1946 season by President Arthur Brown: Membership, Paul Jones, Lester E. Decker; Welfare, the Rev. Edward V. Winder, W. W. Brady and James L. Rowe; Athletics, Erwin Crow and Byron Chatham; Entertainment, W. S. Jackson, Leo Powell and Eugene Cornwell; Refreshment, Sherwood Lasher, George B. Matthews and Chester Greene; Chaplain, the Rev. E. V. Winder.

It has been the custom of the club to cancel its December meeting because of the Christmas holidays and the Christmas program of the church and this custom will be adhered to this year. The next meeting of the club will be January 23. Arrangements for this meeting will be made by the entertainment committee.

Erecting Bottled Gas Plant

Terwilliger Bros., who for some years have conducted a bottled gas, heating and plumbing business on Route 209, at Kerhonkson, are erecting an extensive bottled gas plant on Albany avenue extension. The plant will be located on the former David Burgevin lot, adjoining Marshal Roosa's property and the foundation has been laid for installation of a large tank, eight by 52 feet, that will hold upward of two carloads of gas. A siding will run to the West Shore Railroad and the gas will be pumped from tank cars into the tank. A brick building, 40 by 70, will be erected to house the business. In addition to handling bottled gas Terwilliger Bros. will carry a line of gas stoves and heaters, refrigerators, etc. Mr. Terwilliger said this morning that they expected to have the plant ready for business some time in March. Present plans are to continue the established business at Kerhonkson.

License Plates For Cars Will Be Issued Tuesday

Issuing of 1946 automobile license plates will start on Tuesday, December 4, at the Ulster county office of the Motor Vehicle Bureau, Edgar J. Dempsey, deputy county clerk in charge of the bureau, said this morning.

There will be a change this year in that except for numbers one to 100, which will be in the nature of "special" plates, no 7D plates will be issued in Ulster county for 1946.

The regular issue of plates will include: 8D, from No. 101 through to No. 9999; UC, 1 through to 3200; CU, 1 to 999; UL, 1 to 2500.

Mr. Dempsey said that persons who wish to get special plates should file their application, accompanied by the registration fee and the plates will be delivered when the desired number is reached in regular order. Most of these probably will not be reached before January.

Applications for renewal of passenger car registrations have been or will be mailed to all persons whose cars are registered through the Kingston office. The new 1946 license plates may not be used until January 1.

BETTER THAN WAR

Congress is worried about where Army-Navy football games should be played. Hereafter they have taken place in the east, with this year's game tomorrow scheduled for Philadelphia. Senator Langer of North Dakota has put his mind to it and introduced a resolution that the game be played in each of the 48 states in alphabetical order beginning with Alabama next year, with no admission charge.

The matter is of such grave importance that it was taken up before the House Military Affairs Committee and Secretary of War Patterson was drawn into the discussion. With all the problems these men have on their minds it must be a relief to turn for a bit to football. And isn't it wonderful that the world situation permits them to legislate about gridirons for young Americans instead of battlefields.

OFFICES SCARCE, TOO

Not only living quarters are scarce throughout the land. Office space is at a premium, in many sections non-existent. Particularly hard hit, as in the housing shortage, are veterans, eager to start up in business again, or discharged doctors, lawyers and other professional men whom the public needs and who need the public. Postwar business, on its tiptoes to start a reconversion boom, is stalemated by this shortage of space in office buildings.

Part of the difficulty comes from the fact that the government leased buildings throughout the land for war business. Space thus utilized has been estimated as more than that of 100 Empire State buildings; and only a third of this government-occupied space is in the Washington, D. C., area. Although there has been a rapid and continuing drop in federal employees, a large percentage of these were in the army-navy departments or in federal munition plants, and their going freed little office space. Further, the government's need for desk room continues tremendous for such growing obligations as the work of the Veterans' Bureau, the Surplus Property Administration and allied war-end activities.

The country needs new office buildings; and those requiring the space, as they square away to produce, earn wages and pay income tax, are caught in the same snags as home construction, with no immediate prospect of easement.

Homes, apartments, hotels, office buildings—a country that has the best of them and with ample resources, suddenly finds itself in almost as great need of roofs as some of the bombed areas of the world.

THROUGH PULLMANS

Some day a railroad passenger can ride all the way across the United States without changing at Chicago, St. Louis or Memphis. The coming of that day has been hastened by the promotion given it by the Chesapeake & Ohio and Nickel Plate railroads. In a recent statement these roads point out that transferring a Pullman from one line to another should not overtax railroad ingenuity, as it is already done extensively. They promise to cooperate with any arrangement that may be proposed.

This is one detail in which the United States does not lead the world. The Canadian Pacific takes riders from Montreal to Vancouver in the same sleeping car. And the Russian Trans-Siberian, stretching across one-sixth of the world's land surface, does not dream of making passengers change cars as they go from Moscow to the Pacific Ocean.

FREE FOR THE ASKING

Commercial educational training, almost beyond the mind's ability to absorb is available at no greater price than a penny postal. House magazines of most industries are to be had for the asking, and are kept going to subscribers regularly. The public's understanding of what a certain company makes, and how this company contributes to modern living is to be found in manufacturers' house organs. Anyone with a burning curiosity and a dollar to invest in 100 post cards undoubtedly

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

A COURAGEOUS DIPLOMAT

The resignation of Major-General Patrick J. Hurley as ambassador to China represents a courageous rebuke to the wicked policy of trucking to Soviet Russia even to the extent of permitting Russian military and consular officers to kick American representatives out of territory for the liberation of which Americans fought and died in this war. In recent months Americans have been shot at and, in some instances, killed by Chinese Communists, who are now and have been since 1925 an expression of the Russian foreign policy, serving Russian rather than Chinese causes, keeping their own country in a state of constant chaos in the interest of a foreign power.

These Americans were in China, as others still are, not by personal wish or desire but because, in the course of military duty, they were ordered to be there. A country with any pride in its honor and dignity does not accept wanton attacks from anyone, friend or foe, and it always protects the life and property of its own citizens. Billions for defense; not one cent for tribute.

In the United States the Communists have been sniping at Pat Hurley since they realized that it was his purpose to stand by China rather than to become enmeshed in the deceiving world-spread dialectic that Russia won the war and is entitled to all of the booty accumulated by both Hitler and the Japanese. He had tried to carry through, with dignity, our engagements with China and with Chiang Kai-Shek. Since the Communists and their fellow-travelers have gained such power in the State Department that appeasement is the only rule it knows, he now finds himself forced to resign his office and to tell the truth to the American people. The truth is:

"The astonishing feature of our foreign policy is the wide discrepancy between our announced policies and our conduct of international relations. For instance, we began the war with the principles of the Atlantic Charter and democracy as our goal.

"Our associates in the war at that time gave eloquent service to the principles of democracy. We finished the war in the Far East furnishing lend-lease supplies and using our reputation to undermine democracy and bolster imperialism and communism."

That is the whole truth in every part of the world. Review the history of our relations with Poland, for instance. We promised the Poles liberty; we have permitted them to become enslaved to Soviet Russia. Such enslavement, whether to Nazi Germany or Soviet Russia, or to any country, is equally wicked. We promised all the peoples of the earth governments of their own choosing. We permit the use of American planes and ships and arms for the British to shoot down the people of Indonesia with the objective of sustaining Dutch imperialism even by suppressing a just uprising for liberty.

The United States, by congressional resolution and treaty, has promised to sustain a Jewish homeland in Palestine; it is supporting the British policy of repressing the Jews and stirring the Arabs to a wicked Holy War—and all this done not to give the Arabs a government of their own choosing, but to strengthen British imperialism as an offset to Russian imperialism.

There is no peace in this world; there is little hope for future peace because the policy of the greatest and richest of all powers has been without dignity, without self-respect, without purpose. It is not a Machiavellian pragmatism (I have too much respect for the intellect of the Italian to compare our droolers and doers to him) but the motions of men frightened in their puny souls by the terrifying propaganda machines of our allies—the vast Communist propaganda machine, utilizing by the indirect method of false slogans and false twists in fact, the minds and expressions of those who fear to move off the beam of the momentarily popular—condemn them as reactionary and even fascist. For such, not eternal, truth but ephemeral adulation matters.

The resignation of Pat Hurley calls for an investigation of American foreign policy—a public airing of the devious, rat-hole trickeries of little creatures playing with the lives of decent men and women.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

 ITCHING AT END OF LOWER BOWEL

One of the distressing ailments of which I frequently write is pruritis ani—itching of the skin at lower end of bowel from which wastes leave the body. The itching is so severe that practically all patients find it necessary to scratch, and scratch hard, the itching part. The result is that the part becomes inflamed and tender at first, then becomes hard and fibrous and the ointments, pastes or liquids used to relieve pain are not effective.

Among the causes of this itching are hemorrhoids (piles) on inside of bowel, little cuts or fissures at junction of the skin surface and lining surface of the bowel, gland changes in older patients, certain foods, constipation or diarrhea. By clearing up these conditions, insofar as this is possible, most patients get some relief by ointments or suppositories containing pain-killing drugs.

One of the causes of pruritis ani not so often suspected is a fungus, yeast, or vegetable organism similar to the organism causing ringworm elsewhere in the body such as in the feet (athlete's foot). Some months ago an army surgeon who had cured hundreds of cases of ringworm of the feet stated that the preparation used was equal parts of 55 per cent phenol and camphor gum. Unfortunately many patients, themselves did not dry the feet thoroughly before applying this preparation and severe burns resulted. In Clinics, Dr. G. M. Brown, Bay City, Michigan, states that pruritis ani caused by this ringworm organism can be cured by this same treatment.

"The treatment consists of painting the itching surface with a cotton applicator dipped in a solution of 55 per cent phenol and camphor gum, equal parts. The itching skin should first be made 'thoroughly' dry by first wiping it with cotton and then fanning it. It is used sparingly but whole surface is covered. The skin is allowed to dry again and a small amount of boric acid ointment is applied. The treatment is given three times a week for two weeks.

This treatment, because of past experiences with moist skin, must be given by the physician.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Kingston celebrated its 50th anniversary as an incorporated city with impressive ceremonies on Sunday evening, April 2, 1922, in the auditorium of the Kingston High School. Mayor Walter P. Crane presided at the exercises.

The historical address was delivered by Judge A. T. Clearwater, the city historian, and the anniversary address by the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seelye, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

During the exercises instrumental music was furnished by the school orchestra, and Miss Virginia Loskamp, contralto soloist of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, led the singing.

The invocation was asked by the Rev. Dean John J. Hickey of St. Mary's Church, while the Scripture was read by Dr. Bernard Kaplan of Temple Emanuel, and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Older readers will undoubtedly recall the Oriental Hotel that stood for years on the bluff, overlooking the Hudson river, at Kingston Point. The old hotel had been erected at the time Kingston Point Park was opened. It was a three story frame structure, and was only operated during the summer months.

On March 31, 1922, fire of incendiary origin destroyed the old hotel, and it was never rebuilt.

For years after the hotel had been erected by the Hoffman Brewing Co., it was managed by the late Michael Dippold. For several seasons it was also operated by George Palmer, a well known hotel man who for some years operated the old Mansion House on lower Broadway, and also a hotel at New Paltz.

During the 1920-21 season the hotel had been conducted by Perry Byrne.

At the time of the fire it was unoccupied, having been closed at the end of the summer season in 1921.

Former Sheriff Grove Webster died on March 30, 1922, in his home on East Chestnut street, aged 78 years. He located in Kingston in 1861, and for two years was employed in the post office. In 1863 when the First National Bank of Rondout—now defunct—was organized he entered the employ of the bank and was serving as teller when he resigned.

From 1880 to 1891, Mr. Webster was engaged in the wholesale and retail hardware business as a member of the firm of S. J. Reynolds & Webster. This firm operated two stores in the city.

In 1891 he established the livery business on Mill street and conducted it continuously up until two years prior to his death. He also at the same time conducted livery in Elka Park and in Tannersville.

Webster's Livery on Mill street was one of the best known in the city.

When Kingston and Rondout were incorporated as the city of Kingston on March 29, 1872, Mr. Webster was appointed to serve as the city's first city treasurer, and held office continuously until 1880.

In 1884, he was again appointed city treasurer and served through to 1891.

He was elected sheriff of Ulster County in 1903 and held office until January 1, 1907.

Mr. Webster was a Democrat in politics, and for years was active in the ranks of the party.

Practically he was a Mason, being a member of Rondout Lodge, and he was also a Shriner. For years he was an active member of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Edward A. Smiley was elected president at the 12th annual meeting of the Citizens' League held in the Dr. C. O. Schiller Sanatorium on Wall street. The other officers elected were Frank H. Matthews, vice president, and the Rev. Dr.

Leaves From Notebook Of War Correspondent

By MURLING SPENCER

Tokyo, Nov. 30 (AP)—The sins of Japan's war-lords are falling most heavily on the backs of Japanese housewives as hunger makes itself felt in this battered land.

These unhappy women are to be seen everywhere, in the mornings with empty packs in their hands, and in the evenings—if their quests have succeeded—plodding homeward under loads of vegetables or any other food they have found.

The breakdown of Japan's supply system has driven the housewife farther and farther into the country in search of food for her family.

Japan considered itself efficient but never provided for rationing or sale through regular channels of dairy products, eggs, sugar or fruit. Fish-meats, vegetables and other staples are rationed, but supplies are so meager that housewives have the choice of buying on the black market to augment their thin stocks or of going directly to the farmer, who charges near-black market prices.

Very early in the morning the housewife sets out. A package of American cigarettes or a chocolate bar acquired on the black market, clothing or a bar of precious soap are taken along, if available, to barter with the farmer.

At the railroad station she battles merely to get inside the train, with rare hope of getting a seat. There is no courtesy and little good humor on a Japanese railroad platform, where angry or sullen men elbow in and out with no thought of anyone else.

If the shopper has already established a connection in the country, perhaps with some relative or friend who is a farmer, her chance of getting food is good, but hundreds without such relations return empty-handed.

One Japanese interpreter relayed to me this plain story of a woman at one railroad station.

Early in the morning she left her home—a rusty shack of corrugated iron left over from the bombings. A small daughter was left to tend the baby. A little food was left for their lunches, but there was nothing for dinner unless she found something.

She boarded a train so crowded that she and others had to stand on the couplings between cars. She got off in the country and began walking.

At each farmhouse she asked the same question: "Have you any food you can sell me?" At each answer was always no.

By 5 p. m. she had been able to buy nothing so she began picking up bits of discarded rotten or undergrown potatoes and stems from the roadside. A farmer passed by and agreed to sell her some potatoes—at a high price.

It was night when she got back to Tokyo and she said it would be 10 p. m. before she got home and 11 before the potatoes would be ready to eat. She clung to the sack lest someone steal it. She and other city dwellers who go through this routine say that the farmers "no longer are the simple folk they used to be. They are shrewd about black market prices and barter as well as any one in the city."

No American who has witnessed the occupation will soon forget this standard sight of frail women bowed under sacks of vegetables or carrying empty packs and struggling to get into a train. These are people who are paying daily for their rulers' misguided ambitions.

Acceptance of Uruguay's Principle by Europe Could Go Far in That Turbulent Continent

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 30—More than meets the eye at first glance is involved in the announcement by Secretary Byrnes of his "unqualified adherence" to the proposal made by the Uruguayan government that hereafter those international concerns of American republics which have an international impact could constitute a basis for joint intervention by the other countries of this hemisphere.

Here at last is an acceptance of a principle which if applied to Europe might have nipped Hitlerism in the bud in 1933 or 1934 and prevented World War II. Mr. Byrnes and the administration are to be congratulated for having accepted the proposal of Uruguay to apply to this hemisphere. For obviously it could later be discussed in the light of a wider application to the rest of the world.

"The conference at Mexico City and San Francisco," says Dr. Alberto Rodriguez Larreta, Uruguayan foreign minister, "which took place at the close of this war, gave a still firmer and more definite proof of the common determination to make effective, to any necessary extent, the defense of the democratic ideal and of the individual as the essential objective. Thus the nations became bound, not only by international duties, but by internal duties having an international effect."

"Non-intervention" cannot be converted into a right to invoke the principle in order to be able to violate all other principles with impunity. Therefore, a multi-lateral collective action, exercised with complete selflessness by all the other republics of the continent, aimed at achieving in a spirit of brotherly prudence the re-establishment of essential rights and directed toward the fulfillment of freely contracted judicial obligations, must not be held to injure the government affected, but rather it must be recognized as being taken for the benefit of all, including the country which has been suffering under such a harsh regime."

In brief, the proposal means that no one nation would pass judgment on the internal behavior of another nation, but that a group of nations acting within the Chapattepec declaration as an international organization might consider the international effects of an internal policy of any country.

Plainly the proposal is aimed at a situation such as has arisen in Argentina where the people are being deprived of constitutional processes and can only obtain the full rights by the violence of revolution. The United States has expressed in outspoken manner its denunciation of the Fascism of the Poron group in Argentina which controls the government there. But the United States alone cannot take action and should not. Whatever policy is promulgated should necessarily be the action of all the American republics except, of course, Argentina itself.

The program suggested by the Uruguayan foreign minister is not a new concept. At the San Francisco conference, the so-called Vandenberg Amendment, sponsored by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan and finally written into the United Nations charter, makes possible an examination of any situation which could conceivably lead to a breach of the peace.

Likewise the Catholic bishops of the United States a year ago in their formal pronouncement of policy argued that internal concerns should not be completely free from international observation. The principle has been growing in strength ever since people everywhere have begun to realize that the real danger of war does not arise from the attitude of peoples but from the behavior of individuals or groups who manage by totalitarian methods to get possession of an army and navy and air force of a people who are denied a means of expression through a national legislature chosen in free elections.

It is plainly apparent now that there was a time when the Japanese people were captured by the militarists and propagandists for war. Internal concerns can no longer be disregarded and that's why Secretary Byrnes' statement this week is of such profound importance in the evolution of world affairs.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

New York City, Nov. 30—I am still bullish. Although the stock market may have a break to correct technical conditions, I believe that it will be some time before the current bull market collapses. There are many reasons for this.

The tremendous backlog of unfilled orders.

The tax reductions for 1946.

The very low interest rates, which mean that even at present stock prices one may secure with safety a better interest return than from banks or bonds.

The scarcity of good stocks.

There are today fewer stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange than there were five years ago; with five times as much idle money awaiting investment.

The wage ramp-up and accompanying strikes will only delay good times; they do not prevent them. Besides, merchandise stocks and leisure stocks should benefit from all wage increases.

The fact that stocks are mostly owned outright and that total stock exchange transactions are today only 6 per cent of national income compared with 105 per cent in 1929.

Keep Some Cash Idle.

In view of the above, some readers wonder why I also advise keeping some cash and Government bonds on hand. The reason is because of the one chance in ten of a severe break in the market. This might give such extraordinary opportunities for re-investment that it is always advisable to keep a certain amount of cash on hand for this "one in ten" chance!

As an illustration of what I have in mind, let me refer to an investment list recently issued by a very high-grade Stock Exchange Firm. It lists "Eight Attractive Stocks." These stocks today sell at an average price of $55.50 and give an average yield of 3.65 per cent. Yet these same eight stocks sold at an average of only $5 in 1932.

The above does not mean that in the next bear market these eight "high-grade" stocks will reach their 1932 lows, but most of them may go down to nearly these figures. At any rate, the discrepancy is so great that it pays to keep a certain amount of funds available for such rare opportunities.

The Lamoreux-Hackett Post American Legion basketball team will meet the Catskill American Legion basketball team on Saturday evening. The game will start at 8 o'clock and both teams are in fine shape for the affair.

TAXES GREET HEROES
 Australian servicemen returning to civilian life are finding themselves face to face with the tax problem, from which they were mercifully free in the Army.

"Under the pay-as-you-go system they became liable to pay taxes as soon as they began to earn civilian income," the Camberra tax authorities are warning them. "Tax must be paid on earnings from any source when they exceed the statutory minimum of $416 a year. It is a misconception that servicemen get a special tax-free period after discharge."

More Inflation Is Ahead
 It is nonsense to attempt to prevent either price increases or labor increases. Inflation has followed every great war. There is no other way of paying for such a war. We must take our choice between more inflation or government repudiation. I have been warning readers of this for the past five years. Those who look my advice are sitting pretty today.

There are two things that can happen in the present situation: (1) Unreasonably high prices and profits which will result in increased employment; (2) Unreasonably lower prices and wages which will result in much unemployment. Neither of them will win out, but there will be a general compromise by both groups yielding something. This compromise may not suit anybody, but it should result in higher stock prices. On the other hand, it is well to keep some funds liquid in case—once chance out of ten—something unexpected should happen.

My Personal Conclusion
 This column has always been successful in advising when to get into the stock market. As to getting out, it is always more difficult. Preceding 1929 there were many danger signals, but there were almost none preceding the decline in 1937. Certainly, conditions in 1937 are much better today than in 1932 or 1937 when business was uncertain and 80 per cent of the stocks were held on borrowed money.

Yet both of these bull markets—1929 and 1937—were followed by a nose dive in general business. At the moment, furthermore, money rates were high in those years, while they today are very low with no immediate chance of their going higher. The only fly in the ointment at present is in connection with labor strikes; and I have never known anyone to make money by selling stocks during labor troubles. Hence, my personal conclusion is that both the labor leaders and Mr. Bowles will retreat from their present absolutely unreasonable stands. If so, much more prosperity surely is

Folic Acid Combats Four Anemia Types

Cincinnati, Nov. 30 (AP)—A new enemy of four types of anemia has been discovered, researchers at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine announced today.

It is known as synthetic folic acid and is a member of the B-complex vitamin family.

Dr. Tom D. Spies, associate professor of medicine at the college, who reported "definite possibilities" in this direction only a month ago, said the synthetic is beneficial in the treatment of the anemia of pregnancy, nutritional macrocytic anemia, Addisonian pernicious anemia and the macrocytic anemia of pellagra.

A detailed account of studies made at U.C.'s nutritional clinic which Dr. Spies directs at Hillman Hospital, Birmingham, Ala., will appear in tomorrow's issue of The Southern Medical Journal.

"Synthetic folic acid ultimately may be found more effective than the commonly used liver extract in the treatment of macrocytic anemia," says Dr. Spies in the Journal account.

"The synthetic stimulates the manufacture of red blood corpuscles whether it is administered by mouth or injection and responds to treatment paralleled those afforded by liver extract."

"Clinical changes were rather dramatic," Dr. Spies says, "patients reported feeling better between the third and fifth days. A tremendous increase of appetite in most of them and remarkable weight gains in a few were noted."

Still Sought

San Francisco, Nov. 30 (AP)—The parents of three-year-old Dickie Sude, who has been missing since November 1 have taken up residence in the San Francisco Bay area to make easier contact with kidnapers they believe are holding their son.

Joseph Sude, the boy's father, said he has become convinced by a number of attempts to contact him that his son has been kidnapped.

The child was the object of a week-long search by hundreds of soldiers, rangers and neighbors after he disappeared from the family's cottage in mountainous Sierra county.

Philadelphia Might Get New Reservoir

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (AP)—$100,000 project calling for the construction of a 98-billion-gallon storage reservoir was being considered today by Mayor Bernard Samuel's water commission.

The plan was prepared by five consulting engineers and provides for the abandonment of the Schuylkill river as a city water source. Today 55 per cent of Philadelphia's 350,000-gallon daily water consumption comes from the Schuylkill.

Charles A. Emerson, one of the engineers, said the project would take five or six years to complete. The reservoir would be built at Wallpack Bend 13 miles above the Delaware Water Gap near Bushkill, Pa.

Emerson said the plan represents a compromise and an adaptation of two previous proposals—one prepared by the Philadelphia Water Bureau in 1930, the other by U. S. Army engineers in 1934.

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 30 (AP)—Approximately $75,000,000 worth of United States wheat, processed foods and gasoline have been imported into Germany and have been paid for by War Department funds. S. zone have been small, and at present do not provide even an appreciable part of the foreign exchange income necessary to pay for imports into Germany from the United States."

Army Not Over-Confident Despite 17 Wins in Row

Louis Staggers Two Opponents in Exhibition Bouts

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 30 (AP)—World heavyweight champion Joe Louis staggered two opponents in four rounds of exhibition boxing here last night.

Big Bob Brown, 236, Detroit, gave Louis some trouble in the first round of one bout, but the champ opened up in the second frame.

In the second rounder, Louis dropped Tiny (Robin) Lee, 265, Redwood City, Calif., to the floor for a short count. Louis weighed 215.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—Over-confidence—a threat to any football team that has won 17 games in a row—was visibly lacking among the members of Army's staff today as they prepared to depart for Philadelphia to meet Navy in the gridiron spectacle of the season tomorrow.

With them they carried an exhortation from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, new army chief of staff to "beat the Navy" and a warning that it doesn't pay to underestimate your opponent.

Eisenhower addressed the corps of cadets by telephone from his hospital bed in White Sulphur Springs, V. Va.

The Army squad was scheduled to work out in Philadelphia at 3 p. m. If it is not raining upon its arrival at the stadium.

Tomorrow's game will be the last for Bob Wayne of Garden City and 12 other seniors on the Army squad.

Selections Made For All DUSO 11 Ordered Held Up

Publication of a press release on the selection of an All-DUSO football team was canceled today in order that late votes might be considered.

A poll was conducted among coaches and writers from the cities with schools in the league, and the first announcement, designated for publication today, did not include all the votes because some were not cast until yesterday.

Three Kingston men were included on the first team, Bill Wisniewski, left tackle; Bob Hansen, right guard; Gene Fitzgerald, backfielder. Whether the new selections will have effect on their positions remains to be seen.

Lou Boice made left end on the second team. Arnold Bellini, Herm Schwenk and Jerry Smith were given honorable mention.

Giovannelli Makes
Ring Comeback Tonight

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—A beak-buster who was just "arriving" when he left for the Army, Patsy Giovannelli makes his first major start tonight since leaving Uncle Sam's chowline, and all Bash Boulevard is planning to turn out to see whether his ability has been affected by military service.

Brooklyn Patsy was cracking the big league of lightweights when he got the call back in 1941—before Pearl Harbor—after winning 34 of 35 battles. For his post-war debut, he tangles with rough tough Tony Pellone in the ten-round windup at St. Nicholas arena.

Swim Records

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Three of Alan Ford's swimming marks are among the 35 record applications up for approval at next week's National A.A.U. meet in Richmond. The Yale star was timed last January in 55.7 for the 100 meters and 56.4 for the 110-yard distance. In February he churned the 100-yard dash in 49.4.

Unknown Pro Is 8 Under Par to Lead in Orlando

Orlando, Fla., Nov. 30 (AP)—A comparatively unknown professional who turned in a first round eight-under-par 63 led the nation's top bracket golfers as they swung into the second round of the $10,000 Orlando Open tournament here today.

Les Kennedy, 27-year-old linksmen from Pawtucket, R. I., burned up the Dubsdread Country Club course with a 31 and 32 to come only one stroke above the P.G.A. tournament record held jointly by Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Law, Little and Walter Hagen.

He ended the first round four strokes ahead of Herman Kaiser of Akron, Ohio, and Mike Pavella of Washington, Pa., who carded 67 each.

One stroke behind, at 68, came Ed Furgol of Detroit, Ky. Lafont of Chicago, Jack Isaacs of Hampton, Va., and Charles Sheppard of Philadelphia.

Favorite Ben Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., had a 69.

Best Tenpinners
Are After Bomar's
Individual Title

Chicago, Nov. 30 (AP)—With Buddy Bomar of Chicago defending his individual match game championship of America, 144 of the nation's best tenpin topplers tomorrow will open the Fifth Annual All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Bomar, who last year dethroned Paul Krumke, also of Chicago, is seeded along with four other crack performers into the finals of the nine-day event. All live seeded entries, however, will bowl the entire route for a special $1,000 purse.

Spotted in the finals with Bomar are Krumke, Joe Wilman and Joe Sinko of Chicago and Ned Day of West Allis, Wis.

The other 139 contenders will roll 36 games in a five-day elimination for 11 berths in the finals, which start December 6.

Lawrence, Mass.—Jackie Carroll, 126, Lawrence, outpointed Steve Bellus, 138, Toronto, 8.

Highland Park, N. J.—Freddie Flores, 163, New York, T.K.O. Joe Butch Lynch, 161, Plainfield, N. J. 2, Tommy Monty, 126, Brooklyn, and Freddie Steele, 129, Vancouver, drew, 6.

Football Selections

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Army will defeat Navy in Saturday's service clash at Philadelphia is the opinion of this corner, whose guessing average for the season is 786.

The Cadets, seeking their eighteenth consecutive grid victory and the second straight over the arch enemies from Annapolis, should triumph by a four touchdown margin, approximately 35 to 7.

That gives Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, Army's atomic twins, a chance for two touchdowns each and a lone tally for one of their teammates. Navy should score once but the Midshipmen definitely are cruising for a bruising.

Here's the final trip out on the football limb:

Baylor-Rice: Rice Owls, upset by a 14 to 13 margin last week in the fray with Texas Christian, will come back to spill the Bears. Rice, Clemson-Wake Forest: Ralph Jenkins, Clemson's great center, to guide his mates to an unbeaten Southern Conference season. Clemson.

Georgia-Georgia Tech: Too much Charlie Trippi, Georgia. Harvard-Yale: The Crimson to run. Coach Howie O'Dell's birthday. Harvard.

Mississippi State-Alabama: Harry Gilmer, Vaughn Mancha & Co., will enter the Rose Bowl as an undefeated outfit. Alabama.

U.C.L.A.-Southern California: The Trojans will earn the right in this one to oppose Alabama at Pasadena on January 1. Southern California.

Finishing the rest in a hurry. Notre Dame over Great Lakes, Oregon over Oregon State; St. Mary's Pre-Flight over California; Texas Christian over Southern Methodist; Maryland over South Carolina; Tennessee over Vanderbilt; Virginia over North Carolina; Miami over Auburn (tonight).

Last week's record: 21 correct, 7 incorrect; average, 750. Season's record: 309 correct, 83 incorrect; average, 786.

Texas Team Adheres to
Coach Bible's Motto

College Station, Texas, Nov. 30 (AP)—A Texas team that is the living motto of its coach, D. X. Bible, who says "It's the finish that counts," holds the Southwest Conference football championship and the position of host team in the Cotton Bowl for the third time in four years.

Five times this season, the Longhorns have been called upon to come from behind; only once did they fail. But yesterday wasn't that time as the Orange swarmed to the touchdowns in the final period to beat Texas A. and M., 20-10 in the fifty-second renewal of this bitter rivalry.

Immediately afterward Coach Bible accepted the automatic invitation to play in the Cotton Bowl and four hours later the University of Missouri, champion of the Big Six, accepted an invitation to be the visiting team provided its conference gives permission today.

Middies Determined, Hope For Breaks on Saturday

Pine Valley, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—There were no signs of the fitters today in the camp of Navy's Middies over the thought of facing Army's devastating cadets Saturday in the season's headline attraction.

Instead, the Middies apparently were heads-up, briskly determined and hoping for the breaks against a foe that is a decided favorite.

All week, Coach Oscar E. Huggins has built up a good case on Navy's possibilities, but no member of Navy's official coaching family yet has stated that the Middies will win.

The head Navy coach personally has said that it isn't impossible for the Middies to win, but they'll have to play over their heads to do so, and that "we'll give them a hell of a battle."

The Middies bedded down last night at the famous sand-dune Valley Golf Club as early winter's first snow swirled outside.

They were scheduled to work out at Municipal Stadium at 1:30 p. m. today.

Strong Finishers

Coach Bible's Motto

College Station, Texas, Nov. 30 (AP)—A Texas team that is the living motto of its coach, D. X. Bible, who says "It's the finish that counts," holds the Southwest Conference football championship and the position of host team in the Cotton Bowl for the third time in four years.

Five times this season, the Longhorns have been called upon to come from behind; only once did they fail. But yesterday wasn't that time as the Orange swarmed to the touchdowns in the final period to beat Texas A. and M., 20-10 in the fifty-second renewal of this bitter rivalry.

Immediately afterward Coach Bible accepted the automatic invitation to play in the Cotton Bowl and four hours later the University of Missouri, champion of the Big Six, accepted an invitation to be the visiting team provided its conference gives permission today.

Grant's Predict Soft Spring Styles

While experiencing the first snowstorm of the winter plans are being made for the Spring fashions at Grant's where J. A. Loyer, manager, says, "Spring, 1946, will see women looking prettier and more feminine than ever." Mr. Loyer recently witnessed the advance showing of the new spring fashions in New York and predicts the new soft, rounded look in suits, coats and dresses will be becoming to all—from junior miss to matron.

All suits were softer-looking, with accent on rounded shoulders and hips, tapered waists, and attention to such details as cardigan necklines, tie fronts and unique buttons. The colors were beauty red, mint green, powder blue, butternut brown, toast and cocoa, as well as checks in black and white and brown and white, skillfully executed in suet, flannels and brushed Shetlands.

In coats the belted models, with fullness around the hemline, in checks and pastels, attracted admiration. 1946 features were the bulky look of the fleeces used in some of the toppers, as well as the luxurious turn-back cuffs, similar to those on fur coats. Even in raincoats the dressmaker trend was apparent in the set-in tie belts, the deep raglan sleeves and the light cuffs. Dresses conformed to the new mode, with a few bright prints lending a gay touch to the showing.

Becomingness once again is the keynote in millinery with rounded crowns and brims, sparkling with nailheads, sequins or luxuriously feathered. There were blacks and browns, but once again the emphasis was on pastels and a new off-white.

High colors in sportswear provided a note of contrast. A decided favorite was the battle jacket in checks or solid colors.

Well-dressed youngsters will wear pint-size versions of their older sisters' suits and coats. Even the battle jacket has been adapted to tiny sizing.

The Hawaiian Islands were formerly known as the Sandwich Islands.

Bette Davis Can't Wed at Laguna

Episcopal Bishop Rules Against Movie Star; Goes to Mission Inn

Riverside, Calif., Nov. 30 (AP)—Bette Davis, barred from an Episcopal wedding by the ruling of a bishop, hastily rearranged her plans and shifted the ceremony today to St. Francis Chapel in the historic Riverside Mission Inn.

The wedding this afternoon of the actress and William Grant Sherry, an artist, was originally planned for the St. Mary's Episcopal Church at Laguna Beach where the bridegroom resides.

Bishop W. Borland Stevens of the Los Angeles Episcopal Church disapproved church canon law and forbade the ceremony there.

Miss Davis was divorced in 1938 from bandleader Harmon O. Nelson. She became a widow in 1943 when Arthur Farnsworth, an aircraft executive she married in 1940, died after a fall.

The actress and Sherry had planned to be married in the Laguna Church with her uncle, the Rev. Paul Gordon Faver, retired Episcopal minister, officiating.

The Rev. Mr. Faver was called to assist in the ceremony here with the Rev. Francis C. Ellis, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating.

Miss Davis gave her age as 37 and Sherry listed his as 30 when they obtained their marriage license yesterday at Santa Ana.

Sherry, an accomplished boxer and swimmer, was recently discharged from the Navy after almost three years service. He did physiotherapy work at San Diego Naval Hospital and illustrated surgical techniques.

At Laguna Beach he has painted still life, landscapes and seascapes in oil.

They plan to go to a dude ranch near Palm Springs tonight and leave Saturday by automobile for Mexico City where Miss Davis will be honored at the premiere of her film "The Corn Is Green."

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London, Nov. 30.—Former Prime Minister Churchill's all-out attack on the new Labor government, as leader of the recently defeated Conservative Party, represents the sudden, though not unexpected, opening of a Conservative offensive to discredit the Laborites (or Socialists, as they frequently designate themselves) and regain public support.

Churchill made a daring challenge—daring because it is one from which there is no retreat—When he defined the issue as that of "the people versus the Socialists."

He put it in this grim fashion: "The vote of the electors at the general election was one of the greatest disasters that has smitten this country through its long and checkered history."

Churchill is a great political strategist, and from the applause being given him by his followers it would seem that they think he has picked the plan which has the best chance of success. An impartial observer can only remark:

He did not dot the T's and cross the T's of this order of the day to his fighting forces. I'm afraid, however, that anyone with imagination must see in it the implications of a fierce political struggle in which one class of the population tries to subjugate another.

'Strange Fruit' Is Called Dull Play

Lillian Smith Dramatization Too Wordy, Spotty

By ARLENE WOLF

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Lillian Smith, playwright, has not done so well by Lillian Smith, novelist. In the dramatization of "Strange Fruit," her own best-seller, which opened last night at the Royale Theatre, Miss Smith has given Broadway a well-meaning but sometimes dull offering.

The story of a small southern town and its inhabitants—principally Tracy Deen, a white man who falls in love with Nonnie Anderson, a Negro—gets off to a lengthy expository start in the first of twelve scenes and two acts. Jane White, playing her first professional role as Nonnie, gives a somewhat diffident performance, and Melchor Ferrer as Tracy is spotty and at times not too credible.

Jose Ferrer, who produced and directed "Strange Fruit," has staged the play on a too-even keel, with the result that some scenes are monotonous, some passable, and only a few really outstanding.

Housing Action Awaits Federal Reply to Governor

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Allegation of metropolitan New York's housing crisis hinged today on the reply by federal officials to a request by Governor Thomas E. Dewey that the government turn over five military installations for conversion to temporary housing sites.

The installations are the Fox Hills Cantonment, Staten Island; Fort Tilden, Rockaway; Miller Field, Staten Island; Farmingdale Air Field, Farmingdale, N. Y.; and the Coast Guard station at Manhattan Beach.

The Governor sent telegrams yesterday to Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of Navy Forrestal declaring that the state would advance funds for conversion of the wartime facilities.

He also asked release of materials and supplies necessary to the work.

The telegrams were sent with the concurrence of Mayor-elect William O'Dwyer who conferred with Dewey for five hours.

The "only immediate solution" to the housing shortage is the "use of suitable existing structures," Dewey said.

Dewey's plan drew fire from outgoing Mayor F. H. La Guardia who asserted in his monthly radio talk (WJZ) that the Governor's inspection of the sites Wednesday, was "a political stunt."

Such tours, La Guardia said, "make pretty good pictures in the papers but don't provide homes."

"Precious time is being lost. I called the attention of the Governor to this problem last spring, last summer and last fall."

The mayor declared: "The only way that we can solve the problem is to build more houses, and when I say more houses, I mean, of course, decent, clean, safe, sanitary, cheerful houses. We're not going backwards."

Under Dewey's plans once the buildings on the installations are transferred to the state, the city would lease the properties for one dollar. Then, Dewey said, the city would engage real estate experts to operate the properties at rentals to be decided by the state and city officials.

School Registration 11,024 Below 1944

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—Public school registration in New York state at the beginning of the current school year was 11,024 less than in 1944, the State Education Department reported today, although schools outside New York city showed a 9,120-student increase.

Wayne W. Soper, chief of the department's bureau of statistical services, said New York city schools reported a decrease of 20,144 from September 1944 to September 1945.

The total state enrollment as of September 30 was 1,809,312.

The over-all decrease from 1943 to 1944, Soper said, was 41,781. He added that a census taken later during any school year would show an increase over September figures.

Yamashita Denies Statement to Laurel

Manila, Nov. 30 (UP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, facing execution if convicted of permitting wholesale brutalities by his troops, was asked today if he once stated he could not declare Manila an open city because it would be a dishonor to Japanese arms.

The erstwhile "Tiger of Malaya," retaining his poise despite relentless cross-examination, emphatically denied having made such a statement to Jose Laurel, puppet president of the Philippines.

Prosecution witnesses have testified that mass rape and other horrors were committed by Japanese troops last February in the battle for Manila.

In contrast with the conduct of the Nipponese, General MacArthur had declared the Philippine capital an open city when the enemy attacked the outnumbered American and Filipino defenders in December, 1941.

Yamashita previously testified in his own behalf that he could have taken such action only if ordered by the Imperial command in Tokyo through the supreme southern command.

Earlier today, Yamashita denied that he had received an order from Field Marshal Count Terauchi, supreme southern commander, to hold Manila, its airfields and its sea frontiers at all costs, and, upon relinquishing the city, to destroy them completely.

Maj. Robert Kerr, the prosecutor, said Japanese Liaison Committee had furnished him such information. It had been established that communications were open and Yamashita fairly consistently was in contact with Terauchi.
